

Early Career Teaching Resources

For an Early Career Teacher (ECT), the first years in the classroom are extremely rewarding and very busy as you continue your learning journey. With this experience and support from your mentor your teaching ability will blossom and you will become a well rounded practitioner.

Although it can take a little time to learn to juggle lesson planning, marking and everything else encompassed within the role, to help you along the way, we have put together a selection of useful resources for both ECTs and those in their final year of study that will give you some support and guidance during your first years of teaching.

TES – Offer a wide range of teaching resources to help with planning and your all round pedagogy Resources Specific to NQTs.

Twinkl – Award winning resources made by teachers, for teachers. Search 'NQT' here on Twinkl.

SecEd – For secondary education with many of their writers being practicing teachers and / or school leaders. Shared here are their ‘Tips To Handle The Pressure Of NQT Life.’

The Guardian Teacher Network – shares plenty of teaching news and also has a teacher blog, where lots of useful information is shared including these ‘Ten Tips to Help NQTs Survive their First Year in the Classroom.’

Teach Primary – a leading publication for Primary professionals Here are their ‘Teaching Tips For NQTs’ including a check-list for your first day.

GOV.UK – the statutory guidelines from the Government ‘Induction for Newly Qualified Teachers \(NQTs\).’

The Recruitment and Employment Confederation (REC) – whose aim is to uphold standards across the education sector. There are a number of useful downloads here.